Alpharetta, GA. 2010 marks the fourth year of our "Top 10 List of Hot Trends in Greenroof & Greenwall Design." Compiled by Publisher Linda S. Velazquez, ASLA Associate, LEED AP, GRP, and Design Editor Haven Kiers, MLA, GRP, the 2010 Top 10 List was presented in early October in Mexico City at the WGIN World Green Roof Congress, and will be presented next week in Singapore for the International Skyrise Greenery Conference, as well as at the 8th Annual 2010 Green Roof and Green Wall Conference – CitiesAlive! in Vancouver, B.C. in December.

The Greenroofs.com Top 10 List of Hot Trends in Greenroof & Greenwall Design for 2010:

- 10) Client Specific 'Boutique' Greenroofs
- 9) Green Sporting Venues
- 8) A Symbiosis of Ecology & Architecture
- 7) Greenwalls as Public Art
- 6) Daylighting Greenroofs
- 5) The Greening of Latin America
- 4) Building Integrated Greenery for a Cooler Planet
- 3) Biomimicry as Eco-literacy & Holistic Design
- 2) Megacities & Redevelopment Enveloped in Green
- 1) Tower Oases as Skyrise Urban Ag

Publisher Linda says, “The focus of the Top 10 Trends of 2010 illustrates global shifts in thinking about how we can manipulate the built environment through design to lessen its burden on the Earth's climate, energy, and natural resources, and increase the overall productivity of our built structures.”

Design Editor Haven Kiers adds, “We have showcased some simply stunning and important built projects, those that are still on the boards, and several amazing, beyond forward-thinking conceptual designs that hopefully will materialize in the future!”
