

Parking Garage Green Roof Chicago, Illinois

Few people driving the ramps of the parking garage at Rush and Walton Streets in downtown Chicago know of its verdant green roof. Visible from surrounding office and residential towers, the 16,000 square foot green roof features five planting mixes in an irregular grid pattern. Plantings include Stonecrop, sedum, chive, feather reed grass. The roof is adjacent to an accessible green roof designed for luxury condominium owners at the Residences at 900 North Michigan Avenue.
